GRAND MARAIS

The New Port Town on Lake Superior.

The Gateway of the Great Vermilion Iron Range.

The Base of Supplies for the Whole Country on the North Shore of Lake Superior.

The County Seat of Cook County, Minnesota.

This Magnificent Harbor

Is as near to the Vermilion Iron Range as Ashland to the Gogebic. It is nearer to Chicago and Cleveland by water than Ashland by about 80 miles; nearer than Two Harbors by about 85 miles; nearer than Duluth by about 100 miles.

It is the acknowledged BEST HARBOR on the north shore, and about the only one which a ship can safely make in a storm. THE UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT has long recognized the great natural advantages and future commercial importance of this point, and has caused accurate surveys of the harbor to be made, built an extensive pier and large lighthouse, and dredged an area sufficient for the present needs to a depth of 18 feet, at a cost of about $80,000.

GRAND MARAIS is the natural outlet for the GREATEST IRON RANGE in the WORLD, which is now being rapidly developed with millions of capital, and by the ablest railroad and mining men that our country affords. It is also destined to be the manufacturing and shipping point for

Inexhaustible Forests of Pine,

Yet untouched, as well as vast quantities of cedar, hemlock, and birch.

As a Summer Resort nothing in the Northwest can equal it; always a cool breeze and cool summer nights; magnificent fishing and hunting, and the most varied and romantic scenery in America.

To the Great Harbors Come the Great Cities.

The town is now platted, and separate one-fifths of the lots will be offered to the public as follows: One-fifth at CHICAGO Aug. 2d at 10 a. m. till 5 p. m. of Aug. 3d, at CHICAGO REAL ESTATE BOARD, 181 La Salle-st.; at Milwaukee Aug. 4th; Duluth, Aug. 9th; Minneapolis, Aug. 11th; St. Paul, Aug. 13th.

For plats and further information apply to Secretary Chicago Real Estate Board, or JOHN F. BURKE, Sec. of Grand Marais Real Estate & Improvement Co., Room 18 Mack Block, Milwaukee, Wis.

THE MIDSUMMER HOLIDAY CENTURY.

As usual, the August Century is rich in illustrations, and contains a great variety of articles, essays, poems, sketches, fiction, etc., making it a special holiday number.

"Snubbin' thro' Jersey," the opening paper, by J. B. Millet and F. Hopkinson Smith, with illustrations by the latter, George Wharton Edwards, and others, describes an excursion through New Jersey on a transformed canal-boat, by a company of artists in search of the picturesque.

"Our Kivigtok" (an Eskimo castaway) is a reminiscence of the Lady Franklin Bay Expedition, by General Greely; it is illustrated, as is also an interesting paper called "Is it a Piece of a Comet?" by the owner of the meteorite in question.

The Lincoln History presents an account, with extracts, of the Cooper Institute Speech, and reviews the John Brown Raid and the Charleston Convention. Numerous portraits and illustrations are given.

"Uncle Remus" (Joel Chandler Harris) begins a three-part novelette, in which the scene varies from Boston to the Georgia mountains. Full-page pictures by Kemble accompany it. Other fiction includes chapters of Stockton's novel and a humorous sketch by Eva W. De Jarnette.

"Low Prices, High Wages, Small Profits—What Makes Them?" is a striking paper by Edward Atkinson (one of the most valuable of his series); and Brander Matthews writes interestingly on the "Songs of the War," a foot-note to which gives Mrs. Julia Ward Howe's own account of the writing of her "Battle Hymn of the Republic."

Other contents include an illustrated poem by James Whitcomb Riley; a hitherto unpublished letter from General Grant about the terms to the Vicksburg garrison; an account of "Hood's Invasion of Tennessee," by Colonel Henry Stone; General J. E. Johnston's description of the services of his army in "Opposing Sherman's Advance to Atlanta"; the first of several letters on the "Education of the Black," etc. Sold everywhere. Price, 35 cents.
